9 Russian warplanes destroyed in Crimea blasts, says Ukraine

AP ■ KYIV (UKRAINE)

Ukraine's air force said Wednesday that nine Russian warplanes were destroyed in massive explosions at an air base in Crimea amid speculation they were the result of a Ukrainian attack that would represent a significant escalation in the war.

Russia denied any aircraft were damaged in Tuesday's blasts — or that any attack took place. Ukrainian officials have stopped short of publicly claiming responsibility for the explosions, while poking fun at Russia's explanation that munitions at the Saki air base caught fire and blew up and also underscoring the importance of the peninsula that Moscow annexed eight years ago.

In his nightly video address several hours after the blasts, Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelenskyy vowed to retake the peninsula, saying that "this Russian war against Ukraine and against all of free Europe began with Crimea and must end with Crimea — its liberation."

On Wednesday, Russian authorities sought to downplay the blasts, saying all hotels and beaches were unaffected on the peninsula, which is a popular tourist destination for many Russians. The explosions, which killed one person and wounded 13, sent tourists fleeing in panic as plumes of smoke towered over the nearby coastline. They knocked out power and caused other damage in some apartment buildings.

Russian warplanes have used Saki to strike areas in Ukraine's south on short notice, and Ukrainian social networks were abuzz with speculation that Ukrainian-fired long-range missiles hit the base.

Russian diplomat chides US for rushing nuclear inspections

AP ■ MOSCOW

A senior Russian diplomat said Tuesday that Moscow's decision to declare a freeze on U.S. inspections of its nuclear arsenal under a key arms control treaty was triggered by Washington's push for a quick visit by inspectors.

Deputy Foreign Minister Sergei Ryabkov said the U.S. demand for Russia to immediately allow an inspection trip under the New START treaty looked like an "open provocation" amid the current U.S.-Russian tensions.

"A notice about the U.S. intention to perform an inspection on our territory in the nearest days became a trigger," Ryabkov said in a statement posted on the Russian Foreign Ministry's website.

The ministry responded Monday by announcing a temporary halt on U.S. inspections. It argued that the sanctions on Russian flights imposed by the U.S. and its allies, visa restrictions and other obstacles effectively have made it impossible for Russian military experts to visit U.S. nuclear weapons sites, giving the U.S. "unilateral advantages."

The Biden administration had no immediate public response to the move, which came amid soaring tensions between Moscow and Washington over Russia's military action in Ukraine.

While Russia and the U.S. have suspended mutual inspections under the New START since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic, Moscow's move raised new uncertainty about the pact's future.

A spokesperson for the U.S. National Security Council said Tuesday that the move was a response to the move, which came amid soaring tensions between Moscow and Washington over Russia's military action in Ukraine.

The Russian Foreign Ministry noted that the freeze is temporary, adding in Monday's statement that Moscow "highly values" the New START and saying inspections could resume after the problems hampering them are solved.

The New START treaty, signed in 2010 by President Barack Obama and Russian President Dmitry Medvedev, limits each country to no more than 1,550 deployed nuclear warheads and 700 deployed missiles and bombers, and envisages sweeping on-site inspections to verify compliance.

Just days before the New START was to expire in February 2021, Russia and the United States agreed to extend it for another five years. Ryabkov said that Russia has been open to discussions about the resumption of inspections, but emphasised that it should be done on the basis of parity and equality.

Russia targets reporter with raid, probe over war criticism

AP ■ MOSCOW

Russian authorities on Wednesday raided the home of a former state TV journalist who quit after making an on-air protest against Moscow's war in Ukraine, and launched a criminal case against her on the charge of spreading false information about the Russian armed forces, her lawyer said on social media.

The case against Marina Ovsyannikova was launched under a law, enacted after the February 24 invasion of Ukraine, that penalises statements against the military, lawyer Dmitry Zakhvatov said.

A conviction is punishable by up to 15 years in prison. Zakhvatov told the independent news site Meduza that the case is likely linked to a protest Ovsyannikova staged last month, holding a banner that said "Russia is a killer, its soldiers are fascists."

He said on Telegram that after the raid Ovsyannikova is expected to be brought into the Investigative Committee for questioning.

Ovsyannikova used to work as a producer with Russian state-funded Channel One. She made international headlines on March 14, when she appeared behind the anchor of an evening news broadcast holding a poster that said "stop the war, don't believe the propaganda, they are lying to you here."

Patronising bullying to take sides in Ukraine-Russia war is unacceptable: SA Foreign Minister

PTI ■ JOHANNESBURG

Attempts to talk sides in the ongoing Russia-Ukraine war is unacceptable, a senior South African Minister has said.

South African Minister of International Relations and Cooperation Naledi Pandor on Monday hosted US Secretary of State Antony Blinken, who is on a three-nation Africa tour.

Blinken arrived in South Africa on Sunday, in what analysts describe as an attempt to counter the growing Chinese and Russian influence in the region, after Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov visited Africa last month. This is Blinken's second trip to the continent. Pandor said she was glad that Blinken had confirmed that the US had not asked South Africa to choose sides (between Russia and Ukraine). But she conceded that her government had experienced pressure from certain countries in Europe to align with their policy on Ukraine.

"But in terms of our interaction with some of our partners in Europe and elsewhere, there has been a sense of a patronising bullying of 'you choose this or else', she said.

She also criticised a US bill, which she says could penalise African countries for not taking the line on the Ukraine conflict, known as the "Countering Malign Russian Activities in Africa Act." "The recent legislation passed in the US House of Representatives was flawed (and) a most unfortunate bill. When we speak about freedom, it's freedom for everybody. You can't say because Africa is doing this, you will then be punished by the US. We hope the other House will not agree to such offensive legislation," Pandor said.

The minister said it was important for all to respect different opinions held by different nations. "We are after all, sovereign nations that are recognised as equal in terms of the UN Charter. We may differ in terms of economic power and economic ability to influence developments in different parts of the world, but what will make the world work if we respect each other."

"One thing I definitely dislike is being told: 'You choose this or else', Pandor reaffirmed. Relations between South Africa and the US have been strained after South Africa remained neutral over Russia's invasion of Ukraine. The minister said Russia was a "very negligible" economic partner for South Africa. "Our trade with Russia is less than four billion dollars annually, compared to the USD 20 billion with the US. So, this fear that we might be under some sort of a putch is a totally unfounded belief of the relationship that we have with either country," Pandor asserted.

फोन-टैबलेट के लिए एक चार्जर लाने की तैयारी

नई दिल्ली, हिन्दुस्तान ब्यूरो। सरकार स्मार्टफोन और टैबलेट जैसे इलेक्ट्रॉनिक उपकरणों के लिए एक नई चार्जर लाने की संभावनाएं कलशार रही हैं और इसपर चर्चा के लिए उम्मेद आगने। इससे 17 अगस्त को हितधारकों की बैठक भी जुलाई है।

उपरोक्त मामलों के मंत्रालय के एक वरिष्ठ अधिकारी ने इसकी

अधिकारी ने कहा, अगर मोबाइल कॉन्फ्रेंसिंग यूरोप और अमेरिका का ज़रूरी है, तो फिर यह ऐसा भारत में क्यों नहीं कर सकती है ? ऐसा नहीं होने पर यूरोप तरह के उपकरणों को भारत में लाकर डॉप किया जा सकता है। डॉप करने का मतलब यह होता है कि किसी उत्पाद को लागत से कम दाम पर किसी दूसरे
