TOP PRIORITIES FOR BIDEN, HARRIS

Covid, racial equality and climate change

Washington: Tackling the COVID-19 pandemic, economic crisis, systemic racism and climate change are the top priorities for the Biden administration, according to his transition team, as President-elect Joe Biden and Vice President-elect Kamala Harris gear up for building back everything "better than ever".

colour - to occupy the office.

Following a tense week of vote tallying, Democratic presidential candidate Biden, 77, on Saturday won the state of Pennsylvania and vaulted ahead in the race to become the next president of the United States. Biden's win in the key battleground state put him over the threshold of 270 electoral votes, cutting off all avenues for his opponent, incumbent Republican President Donald Trump.

"The Biden team updated its website to showcase four policy areas the incoming administration will prioritise: COVID-19, economic recovery, racial equality and climate change. 'We aren't just going to rebuild what has worked in the past. This is our opportunity to build back better than ever', said Biden-Harris transition team on Sunday, giving details of the priorities for the next administration which will be inaugurated on January 20, 2021.

"President-elect Biden and Vice President-elect Harris are confronting a pandemic, an economic crisis, calls for racial justice, and climate change. The team being assembled will meet these challenges on Day One," the campaign said. Once sworn into office, Biden and Harris will provide the much-needed national leadership to tackle the pandemic and begin our nation's recovery, it said. PTT

China declines to congratulate Biden

Beijing: China on Monday declined to congratulate Joe Biden as the winner of the US presidential election, saying the outcome of the American polls should be determined by the country's laws and procedures.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Wang Wenbin said: "We have noticed that Biden declared he is the winner of the election."

China has not yet come out with an official reaction to Biden and Kamala Harris' victory in the November 3 presidential election even though official media here are carrying out commentaries on their election.

"Our understanding is that the outcome of the election will be determined in accordance with US laws and procedures," he said. Asked when will China make its statement or it will wait until President Donald Trump makes his stand clear, Wang said: "We will follow international customary practices."

When pointed out that China is one of the few countries which has not yet made a statement on the US presidential election results, Chinese

China is among a handful of major countries including Russia and Mexico that have not congratulated the President-elect. PTT

Suu Kyi's party claims to have won majority in Myanmar polls

AP ■ YANGON

Myanmar's ruling National League for Democracy party claimed Monday that it has won enough seats in Parliament to constitute an absolute majority and retain power.

It made the claim even though the state Union Election Commission has not yet completed releasing results from Sunday's election. "I can now confirm that we're now securing more than 322 seats," said Myo Aung Shwe, a spokesperson for the NLD information committee. There are 642 seats in Parliament. "We were aiming to secure 372 seats in total. But it would be likely more than that," said Myo Aung Shwe.

There were no reliable official figures available on voter turnout, and the Union Election Commission had earlier said that it might take as long as a week to release full results. A victory by the NLD had been widely expected, though it had been expected that its deterioration of relations with ethnic minority-based parties, with whom it had cooperated in the last election in 2015, might cut its totals.

Match of the NLD's appeal is based on the popularity of its leader, Aung San Suu Kyi, who became the head of government with the title of State Counsellor after the 2015 polls. AP

Austrian authorities raid suspected Islamic radicals

Vienna: Investigators in several Austrian regions carried out raids early Monday on people and organisations suspected of supporting the Muslim Brotherhood and Hamas groups, prosecutors said.

Authorities said there was no link between Monday's action against suspected Islamic radicals and the attack in Vienna a week ago in which an assailant described as a supporter of the Islamic State group fatally shot four people before being shot and killed by police.

Prosecutors in Graz said over 70 people are under investigation in the new case and 60 properties, including apartments and offices, were searched, the Austria Press Agency reported. AP

Hong Kong's pro-democracy lawmakers threaten to resign

Hong Kong: Hong Kong's pro-democracy lawmakers said Monday that they would resign en masse from the city's legislative council if the central Chinese government in Beijing disqualifies any of them.

The convenor of the pro-democracy camp, Wu Chi-wai, said that any move by Beijing to disqualify the legislators and prevent them from doing their duties would be "ridiculous."

The announcement from the 19 opposition lawmakers came amid unconfirmed reports that China's National People's Congress Standing Committee, which will meet on Tuesday and Wednesday, may try to disqualify four legislators.

"It reflects they are ruthless, and they disrespect the Basic Law," he said, referring to the mini-constitution that governs the semi-autonomous territory of Hong Kong after the former British colony was handed back to China in 1997.

Media reports in Hong Kong, including from the South China Morning Post, said that the four lawmakers would be accused of filibustering meetings and violating their oaths of office. AP

Lawmaker Dennis Kwok said that disqualifications would be a "serious departure" from the original spirit of the "one country, two systems" framework under which Hong Kong enjoys freedoms not found in mainland China. AP

Pak court sends Christian teenage girl to shelter home after conversion, marriage to Muslim man

Islamabad: A Pakistani minor court on Monday sent a Christian girl to a shelter home after she was allegedly converted to Islam and married to a Muslim man.

Arzoo, 13 who is a resident of Karachi's Railway Colony, went missing on October 13 and later it was found that she married Syed Ali Azhar, a 45-year-old Muslim man, after converting to Islam, according to the First Information Report registered by the girl's father.

A division bench headed by Justice KK Agha in the Sindh High Court, where the case was being heard, ordered the provincial health secretary to constitute a special medical board to determine Arzoo's age.

The bench observed that as per record and medical board, she was underage and could not contract a marriage on her own.

The court asked Arzoo if she wanted to go with her parents or to the shelter home, she insisted on going with Azhar.

However, Arzoo reiterated during the hearing that she was not kidnapped and had willingly married Azhar after converting to Islam.

The board informed the SHC on Monday that the girl is under 14 to 15 years of age. Though, according to the National Database and Registration Authority (NADRA) record, she is 13 years old.

"The court is yet to determine whether Arzoo is having her right to convert to the religion of free will given her age of 13. At this stage only the question of child marriage has been addressed and resolved. The alleged abduction, forced conversion and subsequent marriage had sparked an outcry from human rights groups in the country. PTT

Switzerland conveys concerns to China over rights violations of Uighurs, Tibetans

New Delhi/Bern: Switzerland on Monday conveyed its concerns to China over Beijing's lack of respect for human rights, particularly with regard to the treatment of Uighurs, Tibetans and other ethnic and religious minorities.

Swiss State Secretary Krysiya Marly held talks with China's Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs Qin Gang via video conference, owing to the COVID-19 pandemic, according to an official release by the Swiss government.

In addition to the current epidemiological situation, the talks focused on economic relations between the two countries and the human rights situation in China, the statement said.

The discussions illustrate the continuity of the good relations between Switzerland and China, it said.

"Respect for and promotion of human rights formed a substantial part of the political dialogue," Switzerland expressed its concern about the lack of respect for human rights in China, particularly with regard to the treatment of Uighurs, Tibetans and other ethnic and religious minorities," the Swiss government statement on the meeting said.

The introduction of the national security law in Hong Kong and the associated restrictions on freedom of expression were also discussed, the statement said. This comes in the backdrop of several countries expressing concern over the human rights violations in China. Hong Kong and Qin expressed their hopes for an early normalisation of the epidemiological situation, and both sides emphasised their willingness to promote regular exchanges between Switzerland and China and increase travel between the two countries. PTT
