'DADDY CHANGED THE WORLD' Biden says won't forget Floyd's daughter's words

Washington: Calling on Americans to combat racism, Democratic presidential candidate Joe Biden has recalled one of the most important conversations he had during the campaign...

was with Floyd's young daughter Gianna, the day before his funeral. "She was incredibly brave," Biden said. "I'll never forget. When I leaned down to speak with her, she looked into my eyes and said, 'Daddy changed the world'..."

Black people quickly spread across the United States and internationally against racism. "George Floyd's death was the breaking point" for the country to wake up to racism in America, Biden said.

REIMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS ON IRAN France, Germany, UK won't back US

London: In a joint statement, France, Germany and the UK said that they will not support the US in seeking to reimpose sanctions on Iran.

France, Germany and the UK said they "are committed to preserving the processes and institutions which constitute the foundation of multilateralism."

Russia to let dissident in coma fly to Berlin for treatment

Moscow: Russian doctors gave a dissident who is in a coma after a suspected poisoning permission to be transferred abroad for medical treatment, a senior physician said on Friday.

The reversal came after more than 24 hours of wrangling over Alexei Navalny's condition and treatment. Navalny, a 44-year-old politician and corruption investigator who is one of Russia's fiercest critics, was admitted to an intensive care unit in the Siberian city of Omsk on Thursday.

Authorities to stall until any poison would no longer be feasible in his system. A senior doctor in Omsk said the team did not believe he was poisoned. The German doctors later examined Navalny and said he was fit to be transported, according to a representative of the charity that has organised the plane to bring him to Berlin.

Kamala a powerful voice for US: Biden

It was a reference to Floyd, a Black man killed by a Minneapolis police officer in late May. Biden said "one of the most important conversations" he had during the campaign...

New York: Democratic Party's presidential nominee Joe Biden has said that his running mate, Kamala Harris will make a "great Vice President" with a powerful voice for the nation.

Senator Kamala Harris. She is a powerful voice for this nation. "Her story is the American story. She knows about all the obstacles thrown in the way of so many in our country."

In response, the countries in the joint statement said on Thursday. "The US ceased to be a participant to the JCPOA following their withdrawal from the deal on May 8, 2018. We cannot therefore support this action which is incompatible with our current efforts to support the JCPOA."

The three countries further said they "believe that we should address the current issue of systematic Iranian non-compliance with its JCPOA obligations through dialogue between JCPOA participants, including through the Joint Commission and use of the Dispute Resolution Mechanism." JANS

The Russian medical team then related and deputy chief doctor of the Omsk hospital Anatoly Kalnichenko told reporters on Friday that he would be allowed to leave.

The flight was scheduled for Saturday morning, Russia's RIA Novosti news agency reported.

The most prominent member of Russia's opposition, Navalny campaigned to challenge Putin in the 2018 presidential election but was barred from running. Since then, he has been promoting opposition candidates in regional elections, challenging the legitimacy of the ruling party.

Pence faults 'negative' DNC, previews next week's RNC themes

Washington: Previewing themes for next week's Republican Party convention, Vice President Mike Pence promised a heavy focus on GOP support for law and order as he drew a contrast with Democrats for a "negative" tone at their gathering and failure to acknowledge violence plaguing some US cities.

Washington: Taking a dig at Donald Trump, Democratic Party's presidential nominee Joe Biden took out a moment to thank Barack Obama for being a great president who the children could and did look up to but said the same cannot be said about the current occupant of the White House.

President Obama, a man I was honoured to serve alongside for eight years as vice president, let me take this moment to say something that I don't say nearly enough. Thank you, Mr. President (Obama). You were a great president, a president our children could and did look up to. No one's going to say that about the current occupant of the White House. JANS

Israeli soldiers prepare to launch a drone near the border with Gaza Strip on Friday

Gaza militants fire 12 rockets, Israel strikes Hamas targets

Jerusalem: Palestinian militants fired 12 rockets at Israel from the Gaza Strip overnight, nine of which were intercepted, and Israel responded with three airstrikes on targets linked to the territory's militant Hamas rulers, the Israeli military said on Friday.

It was the most serious exchange of fire along the Gaza frontier in months, but there were no reports of casualties. Police said buildings and vehicles in Israel were damaged and that bomb-disposal units had been dispatched to pick up shrapnel and rocket parts. The past several weeks, groups affiliated with Hamas have launched incendiary balloons into Israel, igniting farmland in a bid to pressure Israel to ease the blockade it imposed on Gaza when the Islamic militant group seized power in 2007. The rocket fire marks a significant escalation. Israel and Hamas have fought three wars and several smaller battles over the last 15 years. Neither side is believed to be seeking war, but any casualties could ignite a wider conflict. AP

Postmaster says ballots number 1 priority, but details no plan

Washington: Postmaster General DeJoy pressed lawmakers on campaign season mail disruptions, said Friday he was unaware of some recent changes by his agency until they sparked a public uproar.

He also said he has no plans to restore mailboxes or high-speed sorting machines that have been removed. His testimony raised fresh questions about how the Postal Service will ensure timely delivery of ballots for the November election.

DeJoy told senators that election mail would be prioritized for delivery as in years past. But he said that blue curbside collection boxes and sorting equipment that have been removed are "not needed."

He declared that the Postal Service "is fully capable and committed to delivering the nation's election mail securely and on-time." He said that was his "No. 1 priority between now and Election Day." "I think the American people should be able to vote by mail," DeJoy testified.

He said he had "no idea" equipment was being removed until the public outcry. Democrats asked DeJoy to explain the rationale behind the changes and pressed him on how, exactly, he would ensure election mail and ballots would arrive on time.
